The idea behind a college annual is to assist the student's memory. In later years when he reads through the pages, he sees portrayed student life as it was then. This year, 1959-1960, seems to progress an atmosphere of transition in the air. A good deal of thought and talk was devoted to the "new school," Consolidated Presbyterian College, or simply C. P. C., that was in the process of being built in Laurinburg. The students here were constantly "exposed" to news concerning C. P. C., and were left to weigh the advantages of attending this institution.

With an eye partly turned toward the future, the particular school year 1959-1960, remained the primary concern of the moment. Team teaching was experimented with, and became a great success, meeting with enthusiasm on every front. Honors courses were also experimented with and proved to be of great benefit to those who accepted the challenge.

Extra-curricular activities proceeded well enough, with partial setbacks now and then being accepted and eventually overcome. Unsanctioned extra curricular activities also proceeded, but with not so much success due to an active disciplinary committee that did a fine job toward making the school better for all of us.

The list could go on and on, as the year is outlined in the following pages. What we have done here will speak for us.

We Dedicate . . .

To Students . . .

who shared our disappointments . . .

who shared our joys . . .

who are closer because of our fellowship together . . .

AND TO THE FACULTY

who patiently worked with us . . .

who helped us through the crises . . .

who contributed to our growth . . .

who took from us and gave to us . . .

who provided example and encouragement when we needed it.

. . . and to Faculty

P. J. C. . . . Our spirit, mind, and body--

. . . first day . . . anticipation . . . excitement . . . wonder at what the morrow would bring . . . meeting new friends . . . doing new things — registration, placement tests . . . look out over campus . . . there's more out there than just buildings, trees, and grass . . . sunset sets a complacent atmosphere around the place . . . excitement ebbing . . . something takes its place . . . a sort of secret knowledge that this is the place you've heard about—college . . .

Spirit

... progression ... second week ... chapel ... a worship place ... seems O. K. ... a necessary and vital part of our lives here ... meeting place — outside chapel ... friends, buddies, chums, even arch rivals are always there — just before chapel ... just after chapel ... student store, packed like sardines ... the weeks stretch into months, the months into years ... two years, maybe more, should have by all right and reason greatly lessened this inner feeling you had the first day ... but it hasn't you still have it ... you always will have it ...

What feeds our Spirit and makes us mature? Chapel, yes, and church services ... but more ... Westminster Fellowship ... fairly bull sessions ... advice from a professor ... a trip with buddies ... a quiet conversation with a friend ... a solitary walk under the stars ... knowledge that God's in His heaven ... hope that all's right with His world ...

Mind

... Desire to do better ... revival of your mental facilities ... all these prominent in your mind as you face that much dreaded first college test
you passed or you failed it doesn't matter ... and academic life moved on ... you faced your next obstacle, making a good mark in your college lab ... you did, or you didn't
... and academic life moved on ...
one ritual, the faculty meeting ...
decisions on academic questions ...
discussion, arguments, and criticism—
all to better promote the student, you
... and academic life moved on ...

. . . chess—mental exercise—relaxation . . . debate—hard work—relaxation
 . . . newspaper work—creative ability—relaxation . . . same thing with annual, other clubs, all activities . . .
 bull sessions — “stretch the truth” ability—relaxation a party, a movie, a date—when the academic grind gets too rigorous and academic life moved on

Body

... graduation ... recollection ... two years ... various things—some good—some bad ... a student government and constitution clarification ... marches, forced or otherwise ... treks to many far flung beaches ... dances ... Sandspur rift ... student elections—more vital than national elections ... non-conformist and conformist controversies ... student store shakeup ... grunts and groans and the clang of dropped weights ... varied and assorted forms of "college humor" ... pranks—"What happened to your hair, Charles?" ... dining hall's food—better and better ... talent show ... Celtics & Rosebuds ... quartets.

Extra-curricular activities — clubs, others many and varied hard work for active participants — easy life for passive members . . . all good things must come to an end no more "thumbing" to Laurinburg, Saturday night dates, "blasts," B. S. Plair dances The question, "What are you going to do? appearing inner feeling no more secret hate to leave friends girls college life lost opportunities realized goals becoming more apparent graduate sad, nostalgic feeling off-into life

The spirit, mind, and body of an institution are unified and embodied, through a gradual process, in a student. This is realized at graduation—maybe not too late—he carries it with him throughout life

Administration

The world is educated by a few; and this is as it should be, for only few have the courage.

President

DR. LaMOTTE

Besides performing the exacting duties of his office of president, he always seems to find the time to talk to any student about his various problems; financial, scholastic, or otherwise. He will personally assist in solving these problems when the situation allows it. He is a leader in affairs civic, religious, and academic. His service to a generation of youth can hardly be estimated. Friendly, wise, dedicated, and competent seem to describe Dr. LaMotte, who is always ready to avail himself at any time to the needs of others.

Dean of Instruction

DEAN DAUGHTREY

This is the man who got us started in the fall; this is the man who will get us finished in the spring. He told us where, when, and which about our classes. This power, though, was in the hands of a wise and capable administrator. It is he we have to thank for our efficiently run educational system and for generally guiding us along the right path to higher learning. Anyone who has had trouble planning a vocation, or future college life, will find from Dean Daughtrey a willing ear and constructive advice.

Dean of Students

DEAN STUKES

"The good Dean" is noted as being understanding, usually; reliable, generally; lenient, sometimes; and content, never. He always seemed to be looking for someone. He could always be counted on to provide a solution for even the most earthshaking problem, even though the situation seemed impossible. He seemed to know about your problems, even before you did. Throughout the year, though, he had more than his share of troubles, this proud new parent proved to be a constant and complete aid to the students. His desire was to bring out the best in the individual and to do the right and just thing. Most students will remember him, aside from his wise and influential counsel, by rubbing the bruises on their arms.

J. ALAN BIGGERS

DICKIE DALE HAMPTON

Outstanding Sophomores

ALAN BIGGERS. Alan was hard-working, faithful, and sincere. As a class officer, hall monitor, and Student Council wheel-horse, he was burdened with much responsibility and duty. He discharged these duties capably and still managed to perform very successfully as manager of the student store. He served as a fine example to many and a credit to all.

DICK HAMPTON. This ex-Marine made our school a better place from the day he joined our group. Filled with sturdy strength and the courage of his convictions, he lived an example of positive attitudes and high-minded character. His multiplicity of interests has encouraged many in the IRC, the student store, and the Sandspur. Our school is a better place for his having been with us.

RONALD WRAY. In the classroom, in extra-curricular activities, or on the basketball floor, Ronald proved himself repeatedly. He was All-Conference basketball, after a season as key man in our offense and defense. His name was repeatedly on the Dean's List. He has shown ability and application in many fields and we are grateful to him for his successes.

JOHN KELBAUGH

CHARLES POWELL

Outstanding

BUDDY RUSS. Buddy has provided us with admirable and wise leadership during the entire year. Facing a tough academic load and yet serving as president of our student government, he has still found time to befriend the last of us and to aid the first of us. As president of Phi Theta Kappa and as a student assistant, he has cheerfully assumed responsibility and he has ever discharged it faithfully and well.

JOHN KELBAUGH. John's courage and his infectious good spirit have been impressed upon many of us in many ways. His devotion to duty and his sincere attempts to make our school a better one have won him respect and admiration on every side. He was well-liked, active, and versatile; we are grateful that he has been one of us and has often brought out our better side.

CHARLES POWELL. Dependable and positive, Charles has shown us the way to good achievement through determination and effort. He is industrious and capable; his service in the library and on the Student Council have been outstanding. He is conscientious and his leadership in class and on campus have been the kind of leadership schools want and need.

CHARLES THOMAS

EDMUND BENJAMIN

Sophomores

CHARLES THOMAS. Charles has proven for two years that he is a necessary part of our college. In the midst of many things, he is often in the background but always a valuable man. He has been a part of many organizations and he was president of the PSI club. But his main inspiration was contributed through his energy and good humor. We recognized his crutches, but we see beyond him to his abilities. And we salute him.

EDMUND BENJAMIN. Ed's abilities have been widely distributed among our activities and to list his interests would be to list our active clubs. He has served as officer in the Phi Theta Kappa and PSI organizations, and his advice and influence have been seen in many instances. His writing fluency is a strong point and his ability to adjust to situations has been noted by many. His judgment is respected, and his courage has been exhibited more than once.

C. R. GRAHAM. C. R. is noted around the campus as a liberal. He has been active in several student organizations and has capped his time here as editor of the Bagpipe. Always busy and always in a hurry, he tackled a multitude of problems. Unafraid to voice his opinions, his character was illustrated by his ability to stand behind an idea.

Basketball

The Scotties started out promisingly, taking four out of their first five games. It looked as if we were destined to be up with the leaders at the end of the season. After two weeks of play had elapsed, we were in third place, only one-half game off the fast pace being set by Wilmington and Campbell. The next bubble quickly burst as our Scotties suffered setbacks in their next five starts, all by close margins. The losing skein was snapped by a four point home victory over a good E.M.I. team. Although we lost the last five games, each was hard-fought, and the Scotties either tied the score or came within a few points of winning.

The Scotties averaged seventy-seven points a game, while giving up eighty points per game. Marshall Green paced the scorers during the regular season with a 17.1 point per game average, and was closely followed by Ronald Wray with a 16.4 point figure. The Scotties ended our regular season with a record of five wins and eleven losses, good enough for sixth place in the Virginia-Carolina Junior College Conference composed of nine teams.

At the conference tournament in Wilmington, we administered a thrilling upset to second-seeded Campbell in a first-round game and finished fourth in the tournament.
